

YOHAN LARDY "LES MICHELONS"

MOULIN-À-VENT 2023

"CRU DU BEAUJOLAIS"

BEAUJOLAIS

They call it "The lord of the Cru" for its ability to reach the excellence of the greatest Pinot Noir of the Côtes du Nuit. It is the only Cru not named after a location but rather an historical windmill, or Moulin-à-Vent, standing proudly on top of an 850 feet hillside. The vineyard planted on the best slopes of the two villages of Romanèche-Thorins and Chénas, are bordering the Cru Fleurie to the south-west and Chénas to the north. Here the Terroir of "gores" decomposed pink granite with veins of manganese and blue clay, explores the best potential of Gamay grape. Accessible young, as Beaujolais can be, it also offers an incredible ageability.

Fifth generation Yohan Lardy started its eponymous estate in 2012 alongside his dad Lucien, a figure in Fleurie. Part of this excited new generation of Terroir-focused vintner, its 8ha of vineyard are farmed organically with no pesticide or herbicides. He practices natural winemaking with native yeasts, minimal use of SO2 and no filtration.

The progression of Yohan's winemaking experience and the excellence of its Terroir are revealing now through his wines. I have a personal fascination for his cuvees and the instant gratification that they provides while displaying so much life in every bottle. We have the future star of the Beaujolais right there!

SOIL TYPE

Decomposed pink granite ("gores"), veins of blue clay and manganese.

VARIETAL

100% "Gamay noir à jus blanc" with vines planted between 1911 & 1950

CULTURE

Organic farming. Traditional working of the soil. Manual interventions. No pesticides, herbicides or phytosanitary products are used. Harvest by hand in small 100 lb crates.

VINIFICATION

Semi-Carbonic maceration (whole cluster) with native yeasts 14 days, in concrete vats with daily pump-over. Ageing during 10 months on lees in neutral 400l French oak barrels.

TASTING NOTES

"This youthful Moulin-à-Vent has explosive berry fruit right across the spectrum of red, black and blue fruit. Stunning concentration and wonderfully creamy texture on the medium-bodied palate. Extremely long and silky finish with fabulous balance and precision"
